ThunderChain Partners with the Naresuan University to Empower 490+ Medical Institutions with Blockchain-based Solutions

ThunderChain, China's leading open-source blockchain platform, announced a partnership with the Naresuan University of Thailand to deploy ThunderChain's consortium chain solution in order to support 490 medical facilities managed, directly or indirectly, by the Naresuan University Hospital for the management of their patient data. The system offers interconnection and traceability in addition to the protection of patient privacy, facilitating the implementation of a health information system (HIS) in Thailand.
